Launch Campaign To Aid Greek War Relief Fund

Dominion Campaign to be Held From June 6 to 26; Council Votes a $10 Donation to Start Campaign.

At the regular meeting of the council last Thursday evening Mayor Antrobus read a letter which he had received from the Greek War Relief Fund, copy of which follows:
GREEK WAR RELIEF FUND
Royal Bank Building, 360 St. James St. West, Montreal, P.Q.
May 21, 1943.

His Worship, Mayor Antrobus, Coleman, Alta.
Dear Mr. Mayor:

As you read this letter literally thousands of children and adults in Greece are dying of starvation. Today in Greece little children hardly more than skeletons fight over garbage cans in search of a mouthful of food and dispute their booty with one another. Entire families beg together. Skeleton mothers with infants at their dry breasts and two or three phantom children stalk the cities crying and shivering for want of food. Everywhere can be seen abandoned babies and young children. Mothers carry their dead children to the cemetery where they leave them without tears, or bury them surreptitiously so that they can retain the food cards of their dead.

To help alleviate these conditions the Government of Canada has authorized the Greek War Relief Fund to seek from the citizens of this Dominion the sum of half a million dollars during the three week period June 6 to 26th. The money will be used to buy food, medical and other supplies. Purchases will be made by the Canadian Red Cross, a joint commission composed of representatives of the Swiss, Swedish and Greek Red Cross Societies in collaboration with the International Red Cross will arrange for distribution of these supplies in Greece.

As the first citizen in your community may we appeal to you for active assistance in three ways:
1. Will you be good enough to recommend this appeal to the population of your community?
2. Will you be good enough to confer with other leading citizens in your community and encourage them to make subscriptions to this appeal.

3. Will you recommend to your municipality that they should make subscription.

Cheques should be made out to the Greek War Relief Fund and sent to headquarters at the address on this letterhead. All contributions are allowable deductions for Income Tax purposes.

Yours sincerely,
Jackson Dodds,
National Campaign Chairman.
P.S. Enclosed is the story of the appeal as told in our folder which will shortly be distributed throughout Canada.

The council was sympathetic to the appeal for funds and decided to take steps to start a local campaign which would raise several hundred dollars for the fund. The mayor's letter will be sent to the Miner's union and also to the local coal companies. By this means it is hoped all local wage earners will be contacted and asked to solicit a small contribution to the Greek War Relief Fund.

It was unanimously agreed among the councillors that the council start the Coleman campaign with a $10 donation.

"DESERT VICTORY" COMING TO PALACE THEATRE THIS MONTH

Wm. Cole announced this week the showing of two top-notch pictures at the Palace theatre this month. They are "In Which We Serve," acted in and written by Noel Coward, and the great North Africa war picture, "Desert Victory."

A number of theatre patrons are now fast getting the habit of patronizing the Orpheum theatre at Blainmore and for their convenience Mr. Cole will in future list the week-end program at the Orpheum as well as the usual listings of the week-end feature at Bellevue.

E. C. Manning Alberta's New Premier

AT 34, Mr. Manning is Youngest Premier in Canada—Entered Cabinet in 1935 at 26 as Provincial Secretary.

PREMIER E. C. MANNING
Hon. E. C. Manning, 34-year-old provincial secretary and minister of trade and industry in the former Aberhart government, was sworn in by Lieut.-Gov. J. C. Bowen as premier of Alberta on Monday afternoon following choice by a Social Credit caucus to succeed the late Premier William Aberhart.

Mr. Manning, who acted as deputy premier in Premier Aberhart's absence and was a close friend of the Social Credit leader who died in Vancouver May 23, had been freely mentioned as the most likely choice to succeed Mr. Aberhart.

On Tuesday Premier Manning announced his new cabinet which embraced all members of the old cabinet and two former private members of the legislature, C. E. Gerhart and A. J. Hooke.

The new cabinet is as follows: Premier and minister of trade and industry—Hon. E. C. Manning.

Provincial treasurer and minister of education—Hon. Solon Low.

Attorney general—Hon. Lucien Maynard.

Minister of municipal affairs—Hon. C. E. Gerhart.

Provincial secretary—Hon. A. J. Hooke.

Minister of health—Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross.

Minister of public works, railways and telephones—Hon. W. A. Fallow.

Minister of lands and mines—Hon. N. E. Tanner.

Minister of agriculture—Hon. D. Bruce MacMillan.

Council Arranges to Have Sugar Coupons Issued Locally; Antrobus' Office In Charge of Arrangements

Two Minutes Silence Held by Council In Memory of Late Premier Aberhart; Sanitary Inspector Reports on Local Butchers and Restaurants.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Thursday evening. Present Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Abousaffy, Cox, Ford, Jenkins and Ramsay.

W. E. Read and Russel Vincent were present from the Elks lodge to engage the arena in July in order to sponsor their annual carnival. The delegates were assured of the arena at a rental charge which will be no higher than charges of previous years.

A report was made on the Tony Lycka case. Lycka and a son had met a committee appointed by the council and which included Town Solicitor Sam Bannan on Wednesday, May 5. Despite several proposals made by the committee which would have resulted in Lycka reducing his indebtedness to the town which amounts to approximately $1,000, they were unable to get him to co-operate. Steps are now being taken whereby Lycka is being forced into making a certain payment at regular intervals.

The tenant of the Lycka property was present at the meeting. He asked council's assurance that he would be allowed to remain in the property as Lycka had already told him he had to get out. Council promised him they would take every means at their command to keep him from being put out of the premises and to remain there until he was told by them that he would have to leave.

A letter was received from the Ponoka town council in answer to the local council's letter regarding the Ponoka cemetery. The letter revealed that Ponoka was in no better position regarding its cemetery than was Coleman. Park's chairman George Jenkins was authorized to have his committee meet within the next two weeks and give thought towards improving the local cemeteries.

Provincial Sanitary Inspector J. Butterfield reported on his inspection of local butcher shops and restaurants. Five butcher shops had been inspected, four were found to be good and one not so good. Four restaurants were inspected, two being in sanitary condition while the other two were rapidly reaching that state with kalsomein, paint brush and the liberal use of a scrubbing brush, soap and water.

The provincial municipal convention dates have been set for June 24 and 25 at Edmonton. It was agreed that should one of the councillors see fit to take his car to the convention a carload of four councillors would represent Coleman at the convention.

Two resolutions will be put before the convention by the local council. They are regarding having one assessor do the work of both the school district and the incorporated area of a town and so get a more uniform assessment than is in force at the present time. The other resolution concerns the senior governments making good to the towns all revenue lost by tax exemptions to men in the armed forces, who own property.

Town Foreman Joe Malanchuk reported on several public work projects which he had just completed. Use of the tractor, plus labor, on the west Coleman creek in turning the creek to run at right angle to the culvert had cost $201.35. Work of the tractor plus labor on the cemeteries cost $133.05, work on Fifth street had cost $19.50, and work on the Sports field cost $70.50.

A discussion on public works resulted in the stop at Clark's residence on Second street being taken out. Cement culverts will replace two wooden culverts on Sixth street.

The road leading up from the tennis courts to the Sports Field is to be improved as it is in very bad condition.

The Town Foreman reported a party throwing rock from their coal bin on to the main highway on Second street. The foreman and two helpers had just raked up Second street and had it looking in a clean condition. They had no sooner stopped raking when they noticed this party nonchalantly picking rock out of his coal bin and throwing it on the highway. It is supposed he has done this for so long that he now does it without thinking. He will be asked to stop the practice.

Complaints about the ash truck were fairly numerous as was evidenced by the number of complaints received by several councillors. Bulk of the complaints were regarding placing a cover over the ash truck as the dust just flies off it, especially when the truck turns a corner. One instance was given where a baby buggy, with a baby in it, was almost filled with ash dust one day as the truck and buggy passed each other at a corner. Mr. Makin will be given his last warning to place a cover over the ashes or he will be prosecuted.

Trucks, belonging to Charlie Sartoris of Blairmore, are creating a public nuisance in town when they roar down main street, running without silencers. Council will ask Mr. Sartoris that trucks coming through Coleman be equipped with silencers and that drivers tone down the speed of the trucks through town as council deems it too excessive.

A letter to the mayor from the Greek War Relief Fund was read. A donation was granted of $10. The letter will also be sent the miners' union and the coal companies in the first step to start a campaign whereby every local wage earner would give a small contribution towards the fund and in that manner it is hoped to raise several hundred dollars to contribute to the fund. The letter was authorized published in The Journal in order to acquaint citizens with conditions at present prevailing in occupied Greece.

Canning sugar coupons are about ready for distribution. It was proposed that the same set-up that was formed to issue the new ration books be again used to distribute the sugar coupons. Mayor Antrobus was agreeable and it was settled to use Antrobus' office on main street along with volunteer help. Date of issuance of the coupons will be announced at a later date.

In respect to the memory of the late Premier William Aberhart council stood in silence for two minutes. It is probable that Mayor Antrobus will write a letter of sympathy on behalf of the council to Mrs. Aberhart.

Council's letter to Mrs. Aberhart
26th May, 1943.

Mrs. Aberhart,
3329 West 44th St.,
Vancouver, B.C.

Dear Mrs. Aberhart: It is with regret the Council and the citizens of the Town of Coleman hear of the death of Premier William Aberhart, B.A., and out of respect and admiration for his fellow man and in this he gave his life, and words cannot be found to express to you and yours our sorrow at his passing.

Mr. Aberhart was truly a great man who fought for the rights of his fellow man and in this he gave his life, and words cannot be found to express to you and yours our sorrow at his passing.

Yours sincerely,
FRED ANTROBUS,
Mayor, Coleman,

Fred Andrisak Died Early Monday

Funeral Held On Wednesday Afternoon; Survived by Three Children.

The death occurred at his Second street home early Monday morning of Fred Andrisak, 69, after a fairly lengthy illness. He had been an employee of McGillivray Creek for many years, ill health forcing him to stop work six months ago.

Born in Poland he came to Canada a great many years ago and has been a resident of Coleman for some considerable time.

Surviving are two young daughters, Jennie, 14, and Josephine, 12. Also a son Fred, age 17. A brother is known to reside in Vancouver.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from the local funeral parlour, Lebera being sung at the Holy Ghost church. Interment was made at the Catholic cemetery.

RUMOR SPIKED

National Defence Headquarters at Ottawa has denied reports that Canadian soldiers serving overseas for more than two years are being permitted to return to Canada on leave. After receiving numerous enquiries from wives, relatives and friends of soldiers overseas, Headquarters stated that no such arrangement exists and none is contemplated at present.

A relatively small number of men return from overseas each year. Some return for instructional duty, some on escort duty and others for discharge owing to medical reasons. Only a very small number are granted compassionate leave.

Local Drinking Water Is Now Pure

Announcement was made at the town office early Monday morning that the local drinking water was now pure. A sample sent earlier to provincial authorities at Edmonton had been tested and found to be pure, the result only being received Monday morning by the secretary.

DE GAULLE RECEIVED OVATION ON HIS ARRIVAL IN ALGIERS FOR CONFERENCE WITH GIRAUD

Algiers. — When Gen. Charles de Gaulle arrived in Algiers for final French unity talks with Gen. Henri Giraud, he received a thunderous ovation from the public.

De Gaulle received newspapermen shortly after 5,000 people had stood in the broiling sun for two hours to give him a rousing demonstration of support as he placed flowers at the monument to war dead in Algiers.

Shouts of "Vive De Gaulle" went up in the great square when the Fighting French general appeared. Hats were thrown in the air and many made the "V for Victory" sign. De Gaulle turned to the people with a salute in which he stretched both arms toward them. As he descended the stairs, the crowd burst into La Marseillaise, putting emphasis on the line about the "day of glory has arrived."

The long awaited arrival of De Gaulle took place on a dusty little air field of the French air force.

Giraud strode forward to meet him. The two saluted simultaneously and shook hands. Both looked grave; neither smiled.

In a brief statement to correspondents before De Gaulle's plane landed, Giraud said:

"The conversations which have taken place have shown that agreement has been reached between the French national committee in London and the French high command in Algiers. It is an atmosphere devoid of partisanship and with the sole desire for complete unity of our forces that our talks will be held. I am glad to welcome Gen. de Gaulle on this French soil."

Giraud and De Gaulle will preside alternately over the committee which later will choose three additional "representative Frenchmen" to round out an executive committee of nine.

NEW C.N.R. TERMINAL

Montreal.—Designed as Canada's most modern terminal, the new C.N.R. central station will be opened here July 14. The $29,000,000 project remained unfinished for many years since it was first proposed in 1928 until the greatly-increased traffic of war brought a rush to complete it.

CANADIANS DECORATED

London.—Nineteen Canadian air-men attended a recent investiture at Buckingham palace to receive awards from the King. Seventeen were given the Distinguished Flying Medal, one received the British Empire Medal and another the Air Force Medal.

CANADIAN DELEGATES SUGGEST ABOLISHING TARIFFS AS ONE SOLUTION TO FOOD PROBLEM

Hot Springs, Va. — Abolition of tariffs and restrictive measures as one means of solving the recurring problem of scarcity and overproduction in foods was urged by the Canadian delegation to the world food conference in session here.

In a 1,300-word memorandum to the conference, the Canadian delegation also praised as worthy of examination the British proposal to establish internationally-financed buffer stocks of primary products built up in years of plenty to tide the world over in lean years. This proposal was termed of importance to Canada which, the memorandum said, "has suffered in the past from disastrous fluctuations in the prices of these products."

"If, in fact," the memorandum continued, "feasible proposals for moderation of price fluctuations by the management of buffer stocks, internationally-held and financed, can be developed, they would supply an element of stability to the Canadian and other similar economies which it would be very difficult to achieve in any other way."

"Measures for dealing with them must extend beyond the field of primary products. Without such measures agricultural depressions will offer stubborn resistance to policies directed to the expanding of employment. But agricultural depressions will become less likely to occur in the future if the expectations of this conference can be realized and the importance of the device of buffer

DREW BIG CROWD

Flying Officer Beurling Receives Four Decorations From The King

London.—Flying Officer George Beurling of Verdun, Que., leading Canadian fighter pilot of the war, received four decorations from the King at a recent investiture at Buckingham Palace. He was decorated with the D.S.O., D.F.C. and D.F.M. and bar for his successes at Malta. He is credited with shooting down 29 enemy planes.

It was the first time any man had received four decorations at once at an investiture.

Beurling drew such a crowd when he left the palace grounds that traffic was blocked in and out of the palace gate.

The young Verdun, Que., ace told newspapermen waiting for him outside the palace that the King chatted with him about his record shooting on Malta, his recent six months in Canada and asked him, as hundreds have before: "Would you like to get back on operations?"

"I don't even remember what I told him," Beurling said.

Even the palace policemen, used to watching heroes by the dozen march in and out of the palace these days, said they had never seen anything like the commotion caused when the crowd discovered it was the Malta ace leaving the investiture.

PRISONERS ARRIVE

Over 1,000 From North African Front Now In Canada

An East Coast Canadian Port—More than 1,000 German and Austrian prisoners of war, fresh from recent battles on the North African front, passed through here recently on their way to internment camps.

After uneventful crossing from Casablanca the group was loaded on trains guarded by soldiers.

All were captured by the British in April when the enemy forces were pushed back by a sweeping Allied offensive.

Engaging from youths looking about 14 to 15 years old to middle-aged soldiers, most were pleased to land on solid footing again.

VISIT UNOFFICIAL

Queen Of Netherlands Made Trip To Canada By Air

Montreal.—Queen Wilhelmina, of the Netherlands, arrived in Montreal May 26 by air en route to Ottawa to visit her daughter, Princess Juliana.

The announcement was made by the Netherlands government information bureau here in a brief statement which said: "The Queen of the Netherlands arrived in Montreal by air en route to Ottawa for a short and unofficial visit to her daughter."

DROWNED WITH CREW

New York.—The Berlin radio, in a despatch from Tokyo, reported the death in action of Rear Admiral Ryusaku Yanagimoto, who "was drowned with his crew when his ship was sunk after a heroic fight." No in a little village somewhere in England details as to when or in what theatre of operations Yanagimoto died were given.

NAVY IS READY

To Carry Out The Greatest Operation In All History

London.—Vernon Brown, naval correspondent for The London Chronicle, said the Royal Navy is ready for "the greatest naval operation in history," the landing and maintenance of an Allied army on the continent.

Brown said battleships, aircraft carriers, destroyers and minesweepers are already strategically disposed and every detail of the operations are worked out.

He described Britain's general naval strength as greater than at the outbreak of war.

Railwaymen Go Over The Top

Records in the dollar value of purchases and the number of individual subscribers were established by employees of the Canadian National Railways in the Fourth Victory Loan Campaign. Compared with results in the Third Victory Loan the cash value of bond purchases by workers employed by the railway, Trans-Canada Air Lines and National Railways Munitions Limited, increased by 33 per cent and at the same time the number of individual subscribers increased by 234 per cent over those of the Third Victory Loan. Altogether individuals purchased bonds to a total of $6,540,300. Of this amount more than $2,000,000 came from Western region. The photograph shows one of the final wire reports being handed to D.C. Grant, System vice-president of finance and accounting (centre), in charge of the railway campaign. Terese Brunelle, Canadian National Telegraphs messengerette, is proud of her important errand. At the left of the photograph is C.D. Cowie, System Treasurer, and to the right, G.S. Cowie, System assistant treasurer, who aided Mr. Grant in organizing the campaign amongst National Railways workers to assist Canada's wartime finances.

ALLIED NATIONS ARE WINNING BATTLE OF THE ATLANTIC AND THE OUTLOOK IS ENCOURAGING

London.—New methods of fighting submarines are showing such notable results that informed quarters here viewed the whole picture of the Battle of the Atlantic as "the most encouraging" since the start of the war.

These quarters said the German undersea offensive on which the Axis pinned its hope of staving off invasion of the continent as not only being held—but smashed.

More and more ships are getting through safely, while the number of submarines being sunk is mounting rapidly, these sources said. Moreover, the devastating air raids on German bases were said to be hampering the output of new submarines.

As the third month of the much-ballyhooed U-boat campaign of Admiral Karl Doenitz nears its end, Allied merchant shipping losses appear headed for a record low while the May bag of submarines is believed by unofficial quarters to have reached a new monthly high.

Even the usually-exaggerated German communique claims of sinkings this month total so far 282,000 tons, the lowest since 1940. This was less than one-third of the Nazi claims for May, 1942, when Hitler's high command estimated 924,000 tons of Allied shipping went to the bottom. The Germans claimed destruction of 851,000 tons of shipping last March and 420,000 tons in April.

The total of submarines sunk has been kept secret, but London newspapers reported that 12 were believed destroyed in the first three weeks of May.

Earlier in the year the net increase of the Nazi U-boat fleet was officially estimated at "more than 10" monthly.

Word that American marine underwriters had removed restrictions on war risk insurance of cargoes shipped through the Mediterranean was received here as another indication of the turn of the tide of battle.

There was no suggestion that the anti-submarine successes had been achieved because of fewer U-boats in action on the ocean shipping lanes for as yet there has been no hint that they were being withdrawn to stand by for anti-invasion duties.

Five points stand out in the recent successful counter-attacks.

1. An increased number of escort ships and planes.
2. Recognized defences, including defences stationed where none had existed before.
3. A newly-developed long-range aerial patrol between Britain and Canada.
4. Secret anti-submarine devices.
5. Capture or killing of many of the best U-boat captains.

EDSEL FORD DEAD

Had Been Chief Executive Of Company For 24 Years

Detroit.—Edsel Ford, 49, the only son of Henry Ford, founder of the vast Ford industrial empire, died last week at his home at Grosse Pointe Shores, a Detroit suburb.

Edsel, at the time of his death, was in the midst of one of his company's greatest efforts, an all-out production of war materials to help this country and its Allies in the war. Under his guidance the Ford organization performed its tremendous conversion to war production, and from its plants flow four-engined bombing planes, tanks, jeeps, amphibious jeeps, anti-tank units and much other war equipment.

CEILING RAISED

Wholesale Prices On Beef Have Been Advanced Slightly

Ottawa.—Wholesale price ceilings on beef carcasses, sides and quarters have advanced 25 cents a hundredweight, foods administration officials of the prices board said, but they added the increase will affect consumer prices "only slightly."

"It amounts to one-quarter cent a pound and that will be reflected in retail increases up to a cent a pound for some cuts and no increases on others," they said.

The price advance represents the final price rise in the seasonal adjustment plan outlined in the statement of government policy last October.

ALLIES CONVINCED THEY WILL HAVE A TOUGH FIGHT BEFORE ITALY IS FINALLY SUBDUED

London.—The best Allied opinion warned against the impression that Italy is going to crack up and lay down her arms without an actual battle.

Despite current reports concerning Italian internal conditions, these quarters believe that it will require methodical hard fighting to subdue Italy.

It was pointed out that the Allies naturally are utilizing all possible weapons, including psychological warfare, in order to soften up Italy. But the actual conquest is expected to involve some tough going, and Allied troops probably will not be marching through the streets of Rome for some weeks, even with the best of luck.

Military quarters point out that vast quantities of supplies must be brought up and new bases established on docks, quays and depots in Tunisia before the Allies can move forward for the next operation.

Naturally, the exact plan of the Allied high command is not known, but the most logical pathway from Tunisia to Rome appears to lie from Pantelleria to Sicily and then to the southern tip of Italy. It would be possible for the Allies to launch simultaneous attacks against Pantelleria and Sicily—but the task of overwhelming Sicily should not be underestimated.

Actually, Allied landings on the Italian mainland from Sicily probably could be accomplished with far greater ease than the initial landings on Sicily.

The Allies also might land on Sardinia but it appears possible that Sardinia can be by-passed, particularly if the main thrust from the Mediterranean is swerved eastward from Italy into the Balkans.

There have been no indications of the Allies' intentions in the eastern Mediterranean where the Dodecanese islands offer a tempting target. Likewise, there has been no indication of whether any of the Allied forces in Tunisia have been shifted eastward with the exception of Cairo reports regarding the arrival of some Tunisian air heroes.

An equal silence exists regarding the disposition of the British Ninth and Tenth armies, Polish forces based in Iraq and French forces based in Syria.

There never has been any confirmation of Axis rumors that substantial American troop contingents are available in Palestine and Cyprus which are logical jumping off points for attacking the Dodecanese and Greek islands.

Let's Win the War

There is a lot of talk about post-war reconstruction; so much of it that those who are most verbose over it apparently attach more importance to it for their own selfish reasons than they do the winning the war. We have quite a long way to go to finish the war, and it is towards that end that our main energies should be devoted, no matter what political stripe we may be tagged with.

Under the guise of posing as saviours of the common people, there are politicians with selfish party ambitions putting across propaganda which is nauseating. Their chief aim is to gain publicity on which to capitalize for public support. Anyone would think that to hear these gentlemen talk that the war was only of secondary consideration, when we all know that if we don't win it there won't be any re-constructions for us to talk about.

It is good political strategy, (that is for the purely professional politician more concerned about party success than the public interest) to divert attention or notice from his own failures by making a new issue on which to spout. We see that today. Why try to conquer new fields when so many unfilled promises right here in this province remain as evidence of inglorious failure? Another pertinent question is: Alberta taxpayers' money being used to influence political opinion in other provinces?

To stop advertising to save money is like stopping the clock to save time.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Alberta Has A New Premier

On Monday, May 31, Alberta had a new premier. He is the thirty four year old Ernest C. Manning, former provincial secretary and minister of trade in the Aherhart government.

His elevation to the premiership came as no surprise to Albertans as a whole due to his close relationship to the late premier who had tutored him in his Social Credit theories which had swept the province in 1935 and in lesser degree in 1940. The youthful premier takes office at a time when the responsibilities of his position are heavy. Many thousands of Albertans still wait in hope for the fulfillment of promises made by the Social Credit party in 1935 and now look upon him to put those promises into practice. Again Alberta can play a greater role in the prosecution of Canada's war effort than she has done in the past. The new premier has the congratulations of both his friends and political opponents alike as he ascends to his high office.

Coleman's Sports Association

The salvation of sport in Coleman is seen in the recent formation of a Coleman Sports Association. Its membership includes every wage earner in town and is controlled by representatives from the miners, companies, school and businessmen.

The first big venture will be a July 5 sports day. A sum has been set aside to take care of prizes for both adults and children. The sponsoring of a ball league has a two fold purpose: first to interest youths in sport and healthful recreation and secondly to keep them from loitering on the street.

As the treasury is enriched by monthly fees from all members, attention will be given the arena, where needed improvements will be made.

As the Association gains in strength and influence in the coming years there are two sports which it should foster. They are—swimming, in a community swimming pool, and golf, on a COLEMAN golf course.

London In Wartime

Another in a series of articles written by W. R. Legge, and C. V. Charters, who represented the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in a recent tour overseas.

(Article No. 22)

We arrived in London late in the evening after an all-day train journey. There was no moon that night. London in the black-out is really black. There were army automobiles to meet us and we had a sudden and complete introduction to being driven through the blackness at what seemed to us to be about thirty miles an hour, and on the wrong side of the street.

Our car narrowly missed a pedestrian who was courting death by dodging across the street in the middle of the block. If he had been hit it looked to us as if he would have been entirely at fault, but our guide said that in such a case the chauffeur would be "Joe", which in army parlance is the fellow who gets all the blame.

London in the daytime is just as strange to us. On the streets are men and women in uniform from all parts of the world, "S" signs on nearly every corner pointing the way to shelters, other signs showing where there are tanks of static water, shelters built in the streets, closed stores, store windows boarded over except for small lights of glass, and if there were anything else needed to show that we are in the war zone, we could look up and see countless balloons in the sky. The barrage balloons, which look something like huge fish, are a silver color that blends with the sky, so that they are hard to see at any distance, but in spite of that, one could often count forty or more.

The static water is for use in fighting fires in case the water mains are destroyed or are inadequate. In many cases the basements of buildings that have been demolished are cleaned out, cemented, and filled with water. The number of stores that are closed is astonishing. Most store windows have been broken by concussion even when the buildings have not been hit, and there would not be enough glass to replace them even if it were safe to do so. Therefore the windows have been closed up, leaving only small panes of glass three or four feet square in the centre.

The acute shortage of labour is apparent in many things, as for instance, in the elevator services, or "lifts" as they are known there. People are expected always to walk downstairs, no matter how many stories, and to walk up if not more than three stories.

No one is supposed to have more than one bath a week, and then to have only five inches or less of water in the tub. The hotels no longer give a fast service for laundry, and one must allow several days before expecting its return.

Debris from bomb damage has been well cleaned up, but little or no attempt has been made to rebuild. Plans for a finer and more beautiful London still exist only on paper.

Transportation is much better than we expected. Taxicabs are under severe restrictions as to gas and speed, but it is possible to get one when required, with a little delay. The principal method of travel in London is to take the underground or a bus, and there are plenty of the latter. They are of the double deck type. People queue up for them in a very orderly manner which is a tremendous improvement over the crowded confusion usually found around the entrance to a street car in Canada.

The London subway system is said to be the finest in the world, and it probably is. Most of the subways are much deeper in the ground than those in America. For that reason they have suffered little or no damage, and the stations make excellent shelters. At nearly all these stations there are now double deck iron cots, similar to those used in soldiers' barracks. We were told that there are still a few people who regularly sleep in the subways, but it was a long time before we actually saw some of them.

There are many things in London that are just the same as ever. The pigeons haven't left Trafalgar Square, although there may not be quite so many. It is a mystery what they are on, as people are not supposed to give them any good food.

And the orators still hold forth in Hyde Park. Our hotel was just across the street from that part of the park where Free Speech is enjoyed or abused, according to your viewpoint. Here the soap box speakers can say anything they wish without fear of prosecution. There are not so many listeners now, but on the Sunday that we went to hear the orators there was a fair sized crowd. It is excellent free entertainment, as there are always a number holding forth on all kinds of subjects. One of the most popular just now is "Monolith" who waves a number of flags in the air, and talks about what the negroes have done to help the world. He wears a colorful costume to add to the show. Later, when we queried a Cabinet Minister about these orators, some of whom appear to preach almost treason, he declared that "Every building needs a good ventilating system."

Theaters are still providing good shows, but on account of the black-out, the curtains go up at about half past five or six o'clock for the evening performance. Prices for orchestra seats, or "stalls" as they are called over there, are very high, but about half the price is for taxes. A large portion of the audience is in uniform—probably men on leave.

Although only automobiles for military or authorized purposes are used, there are many on the streets. Some of them are driven by gas which is carried in huge fabric bags which cover the roof of the car, and are about four feet high inflated. We were told that one filling of gas will drive the car about a hundred miles and costs six dollars.

Many of the signs in London were of great interest to us. On one there was a sign "Fidney-Bacon-Toad", which caused us to wonder if the people of London were even eating toads. However, it was explained that "Toad" is the name for a sort of sausage roll.

Another restaurant had the sign, "This restaurant will stay open during raids as long as the walls are standing." Another sign on a badly wrecked building read "You may think this is bad, but you should see our Berlin branch."

On the whole we found the people of London to be cheerful and optimistic, so busy at the task of winning the war that they have little time for anything else. Everyone is anxious to help strangers, and the city is full of them, so we found it surprisingly easy to make our way around.

HONORS FOR SCHOLARS

To widely separated points in Southern Alberta will be represented on CJOC's Honors For Scholars program on June 4th. Students from the Bellevue and Del Bonita High Schools will meet in a "battle of wits" on that date. Honors For Scholars is the program which brings together high school teams from all over the south to compete for the quiz honors. The Bellevue and Del Bonita High Schools will each send four students representing the four high school grades. Competition promises to be very keen when students from these two centres meet for the test of knowledge on Friday, June 4 at 9.30 p.m. over CJOC.

People shop where they are invited—that's why it pays to advertise.

'Peeping Tom' Giving Trouble In Graftontown

Ladies Asking Mayor Antrabus to Use His Influence in Capturing Culprit.

This week a number of ladies from Graftontown have reported to Mayor Antrabus the presence of a Peeping Tom in that vicinity of town, and asked him to use his office as mayor of the town to track down the culprit.

Since Graftontown is outside the town limits, Mayor Antrabus has no jurisdiction in that vicinity, and neither has the local police. However, the R.C.M.P. will be notified and steps taken to catch the culprit.

The ladies have suggested to the Mayor that Graftontown be given better illumination at night. Here again the Mayor is powerless to do anything. If the residents of Graftontown desire more light they will have to take the matter up with the proper authority.

School Boys Over 17 Years Have Chance to Join Canada's Army

Will Receive Pay And Trained in One of Several Army Trades; To Be Based in Canada; Must Secure Parents' Permission to Join.

Civilian Recruiting Officer Alex Easton, of the local Legion club, has been furnished with forms with which he can take the application of any school boy, 17 years and over, who wishes to join the Canadian Army.

Here are the requirements for boys interested:

1. Boys who have attained the age of 17 years may be enlisted in active units or formations of the Canadian Army for the purpose of undergoing training.

2. No boy shall be so enlisted without having previously obtained the written consent of his parents or guardian.

3. Boys so enlisted shall be entitled to receive boys' rates, of pay until attaining the age of 17½ years, after which they shall be entitled to standard rates of pay as soldiers.

4. No boys so enlisted shall be sent beyond Canada to a zone of military operations before having reached the full age established for this purpose for soldiers of the Canadian Army.

This is a marvellous opportunity for young men desirous of serving their country, because not only will they ultimately serve if needed, but in the meantime they are being given a chance of continuing their education with special training in particular trades, so that they will be much better qualified to face civilian life following the termination of the war.

The particular trades in which these boys will be especially trained are: (1) Electrical (2) Machinist (3) Automotive (4) Clerical (5) Draughting and Surveying.

Honored

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion met at the home of Mrs. H. Turner on Monday evening to honor Mrs. Tom Rose who has since left to take up residence at Vancouver. Whist was played, honors being won by Mrs. T. Rose and Mrs. J. Atkinson. President Mrs. J. Morrison, on behalf of the members, presented the guest-of-honor with a farewell gift.

Members of St. Alban's Women's Guild met in the Parish hall last Thursday to honor Mrs. Tom Rose. Whist was played, prize winners being Mrs. M. E. Cornett, Mrs. W. Gate and Mrs. E. Hill. The travelling prize was won by Mrs. L. Richards. In making a presentation to the honored guest Rev. J. R. Hague stated he regretted to see the church and Guild lose such a faithful worker.

Mrs. T. Rose left on Wednesday for Vancouver where she will take up residence.

Mrs. L. Moore was hostess at a handkerchief shower on Wednesday, May 23, in honor of Mrs. Tom McCloy who will soon leave Coleman with her husband and family to reside at Calgary.

The evening was spent playing whist, winners being Mrs. J. Park and Mrs. A. Corneze. Mrs. Grant, on behalf of the assembled guests, presented Mrs. McCloy with a basket of beautiful handkerchiefs. Hostesses were Mrs. L. Moore, Mrs. J. Moore and Mrs. W. Knight.

A farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. MacNeill recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCloy who will soon leave Coleman to reside at Calgary. During the social evening the guests of honor were presented with an electric toaster by Mr. Mack Stigler on behalf of the assembled guests. The party broke up with the singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Writes for Radio

Elsie Park Gowan, whose radio adaptation of "North After Seals" was heard on Thursday, March 11, over the CBC's national network. This is the third Canadian contribution Mrs. Gowan has written the CBS-CBC School of the Air series, "Tales from Far and Near."

Originally from the banks of Loch Lomond, Mrs. Gowan settled at an early age in Alberta, and after taking her degree in history, proceeded to win Carnegie competitions in play writing. Since turning to radio, she has become well-known for her many historical and adventure plays as well as for her excellent radio adaptations. Mrs. Gowan's name is familiar to prairie listeners of the recently concluded series, which were broadcast on Friday afternoons, "Petticoat Pioneers". Mrs. Gowan has completed a series of radio plays to be broadcast under the general title of "The Call to Health and Happiness". The series will commence on Wednesday, May 5, and will be broadcast over the western network of the CBC at 4:15 p.m. MDT.

Girl Guide Notes

"COOKIE DAY" has been delayed somewhat due to the lack of sugar, but we hope that the week-end. This has become quite a "Spring Event", and we are sure it will not need much advertising this year.

Badge work is getting along very well—the tests have been this week, and some of the girls will have several new badges to their credit. Our Annual Badge Presentation is to be held on June 14.

War Service badges are available to Guides who have given 100 hours free service in any effort definitely connected with the prosecution of the war.

The National War Service Project has a new name and will now be called the Guide Overseas Gift Project. The Guides and Brownies began this work in November, 1940, and the close of last year had sent 29,665 articles of clothing ranging from booties to overcoats. Recently a large consignment of clothing and quilts made by Guides and Brownies from all over the Province was sent to Dominion Headquarters in Toronto where they will be sent with other contributions to the Guides Overseas Gift Project.

SILK STOCKINGS FOR THE W.D.'s!

Great joy reigned throughout the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division) when orders were received giving the girls permission to wear silk stockings after duty hours.

This, together with the smart new hats, and neat blue purses now on hand to be issued, will certainly make the W.D. the smartest girl in uniform.

New uniforms of cool khaki worsted are to be issued in the near future, for wear during the hot summer days.

Any girl who is smartly dressed in civilian life need have no hesitation in stepping out in the smart uniform of the W.D.!

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

The summer vacation period for the schools will soon be here. A longer vacation period has been granted for the purpose of assisting employers in carrying on their business. Labour shortage is becoming acute. Many school teachers and pupils of the high schools have registered for employment for the vacation period. Employers co-operation in placing these applicants will be appreciated. If you need labour, register your order with the National Selective Service at Blairmore.

To Speed The Day

It will take all the qualities we can muster to bring complete success to our arms... brilliant strategy and heroic deeds on the fighting front, skilled planning and persistent toil in the field, mine and factory, useful work and patient waiting in the home.

ON the industrial front, one of the most vital materials of victory is coal. Upon this indispensable product depends the function of our factories, smelters and shipyards. Upon their functioning depends the success of Canada's war effort.

Our entire mines are given over for the production of coal for our war effort. We are proud thus to be doing our part to hasten the day when "HE" comes marching home again, to gratify the dearest wish of those he left behind.

Fastest Fighter And Bomber In The World

Most versatile aircraft in the world, the Mosquito is in active service as a long range day and night fighter and intruder as well as a day and night bomber. The Mosquito Fighter (shown above) has four 20 mm. cannon and four .303 machine guns, all mounted in the fuselage nose, giving highly concentrated fire. The Mosquito Bomber carries 2,000 lbs. of bombs with a fuel range which brings practically the whole of Germany within its reach.

The design of the Mosquito was not commenced until after war began and it represents a world record from drawing board into operations against the enemy, namely 22 months.

Because of its plywood construction, the de Havilland Mosquito is the most widely dispersed in manufacture of any aircraft, utilizing hundreds of sub-contractors.

The de Havilland Aircraft world-wide formation of aeronautical enterprises in Britain, Canada, South Africa, India, Australia, New Zealand and South America in operation for many years before the war in the manufacture of civil and commercial aircraft, was in a fortunate position to turn all their facilities and experience to production for the Allies of the world's fastest aircraft.

Performance information on the Mosquito has not been released, but Mosquitoes fly non-stop to Russia to lunch, and back to Britain the same afternoon.

Replacements Scarce

One Reason Why Farm Machinery Should Not Be Neglected

As replacements are difficult these days, care of farm machinery, recently taken from winter storage, is important. In past years, a great deal of the equipment owned by farmers had been destroyed through neglect.

Feed grinders, milk coolers, pumps, and the larger pieces of farm machinery should be kept well-lubricated at all times.

The outside of different engines about the farm should be kept clean, and wiped off with a light lubricating oil.

Pleasant Little Gadgets

Nazis Had Tricky Ways Of Leaving Death Behind Them

The retreating Nazis in Tunisia lavished great thought and mechanical skill on tricky little ways of leaving death behind them for individual Allied soldiers. The War Department described some of the latest booby traps: A whistle that does not explode until it is blown. The vibrating pea hits a detonator. REG'LAR FELLERS—Super-Salesman

Valuable Time Saved

By Ingenuity Which Women Have Used In War Work

From kitchen to factory is but over the threshold in these days. Women are not only stepping easily from sink to assembly line, but they're adapting domestic wrinkles to mass production.

Because a woman war worker remembered how her mother used to keep hot doughnuts from sticking together, she was able to save thousands of man-hours in the manufacture of rubber rings for airplane engines. The rings were piled into boxes when they were hot and many stuck together. These had to be scrapped. Recalling that her mother had put flour between doughnuts to keep them apart, this ingenious war worker used pumice powder between the rubber rings. It worked, and all wastage was eliminated.

Another woman in an aircraft factory decided that eleven steps in the painting of strips of color on a tube were too many. "I could do it with this-and-this-and-this," she explained blocking out three brief operations. She saved eight hours per plane by this short-cut.

Men show more initiative in factory work, according to one employer, but women have more ingenuity. That's easy to explain. Ask any housewife. How did she manage to keep the family budget in balance? It took ingenuity! A little patching here, a little darning there, and plenty of fast thinking when friend husband brought someone home unannounced to dinner. And what couldn't she fix with a hairpin?

Ingenuity is an asset on any job, and "experience: housewife" is nothing to apologize for in any employment office.—Christian Science Monitor.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 6

PETER COMFORTS PERSECUTED CHRISTIANS

Golden text: For it is better, if the will of God should so will, that ye suffer for well-doing than for evil-doing. I Peter 3:17.

Lesson: I Peter 3:13-17; 4:12-16; 5:6-10.

Devotional reading: Hebrews 11:32-12:2.

Explanations and Comments

Refer to Well-Doing rather than for Ill-Doing. I Peter 3:13-17. Who will harm you, Peter asks his readers, if you are zealous ("a strong term, rendered a "zeal" in Thine 2:14") for goodness? Then he wisely qualifies this suggestion which claims too much by adding, But, even if you should suffer for that which is right (see Mt. 5:10) you are blessed. Fear not, because of them, neither be troubled. Fear not, little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom, Lk. 12:32. Reverence Christ in your heart as Lord. "Fearlessness does not mean contemptuous indifference to pagans, however; where you are requested informally or interrogated by a magistrate, always be ready with a reply. Be ready to explain and discuss your religion, not merely to reverence Christ as Lord in your own hearts, but to tell others what he means to you. Yet with meekness and fear. Here Peter not only bids them take every chance of clearing away misconceptions of the faith, but also to do so gently—no indignation, no supercilious temper—and with a sense of reverence toward God; to bear testimony before men tactfully and visibly with a sense of serious responsibility to God" (James Moffatt).

Did Peter have an idea that sometimes goodness could be arrogant and self-assured when he wrote, "But answer gently and with a sense of reverence"? It is true that goodness does seem at times to be very sure of itself and inclined to dogmatism. The aggressively pious person, extremely critical of others, the cocksure dispenser of mooted questions, were not attractive types of Christians, Peter had discovered, and he was moved to warn his readers that such would not win followers for his Master, the meek and lowly Jesus.

Have therefore a good conscience: be conscious of your own innocence. Your reply must not be contradicted by your conduct. Your good manner of life in Christ must put to shame those that basely charge you with an evil manner of life. If it is God's will that you must suffer, then suffer for well-doing, not for evil-doing.

New Cap Badge

A new cap badge for all ranks of the Canadian Infantry Corps is announced by National Defence Headquarters. The badge is of bronze, having two crossed rifles upon which a double ellipse contains a sprig of three Maple leaves, surmounted with the Imperial Crown. Below is a scroll inscribed "ACER", the Latin Botanical term for Maple. It also may be interpreted to mean keeness and strength. These cap badges will be issued to reinforcements of the Canadian Infantry Corps in Canada for wear until such time as they are posted to their Battalion or other unit when they will adopt its regimental badge.

Good Saving Plan

Bonds are One Of Best Forms For This Purpose

The Fort William Times-Journal says: It will be very interesting to check up after the war is over how much of the money Canadians are putting into the war loans will be left till maturity and how much will be withdrawn.

Before the last war there were very few bond holders, most people with surpluses keeping it in cash, but nowadays almost everyone has or has had bonds.

Bond buying is much like any other form of saving, and it is likely that few will want to part with their safe and sure government bonds unless there is a very strong urge either through an active stock market or the urge to buy goods or services. With money in bonds or having it in a savings account of a bank the usual experience is that most people like to see their savings growing and they resist as long as possible breaking into funds put away in that form.

From Sailing-Ship Days

Reason The British Seafaring Man Was Called A Limey

When the Allied armies met in Tunisia the first words of greeting, we are told, came from an American sergeant, who hailed a British patrol with the phrase — "Hello there, Limey."

Many people were asking why this particular word should have been used. For the answer we have to go back to the old sailing-ship days when every British craft carried a supply of lime juice which was issued to the crew daily as a preventive for scurvy. Thus it came about that any British seafaring man was dubbed a "Limey".

But the British were not the only nationality to have a nickname. The Americans were, of course, Yankees. Belgians, Hollanders and Germans were all grouped as Dutchmen, and any sailor from the Mediterranean was called a Dago. The Northern peoples—Danes, Swedes and Norwegians were classified as "Skandinavians", but the most delightful of all was the Nova Scotian, who went under the name of "Bluenose"—Bel-fast News-Letter.

CHAPTER V.

"YOU are to come with us, senior."

Rosita said shortly. "I'm afraid that is impossible." Morgan shook his head. "I have given my word not to leave this hotel—"

"The word of a murderer!" the girl said contemptuously.

"I did not kill your uncle, seniorita," Morgan was trying to keep his temper in check. "But then he had judged me on circumstantial evidence. I am afraid you are slightly arrogant, seniorita Velasquez. You seem determined to allow no one to say a word in his own defense."

"Defense?" she repeated, scorn immeasurable in her voice. "There can be no defense against the proof we have—"

Her eyes were glittering with hostility, and Morgan realized with a shock that the Velasquez brother and sister were determined on taking the law into their own hands. Swiftly, Morgan brought his arms down in an attempt to seize the girl's gun.

But she evaded him with a quick backward spring. "Esteaban," she exclaimed sharply. At the same instant, before Morgan could move, a blast of streak blurred before his eyes, lodging in his ears sound of a cracking report. For a split second Morgan fancied that the girl had pulled the trigger of the automatic. But then he realized that the explosive sound had been the cracking of the bull-whip, flung by the gaucha to the girl's arms like a constricting anasp. Morgan's hands were pinned to his sides, the whip tightened again, and Morgan was flung to the floor.

As he fell, both Rosita and Esteaban moved toward him. But it was the brawzy-trodden cowboy who reached the helpless man first. Bending over the American, Esteaban Velasquez shortened his grip on the whip and struck the weighted end against the side of Morgan's head.

From the darkness of unconsciousness Morgan opened his eyes into the lesser darkness of night. At first he believed himself in the throes of dizziness, then realized that the jostling sensation was an automobile in motion. He was reclining, after a fashion, in the back seat of the car.

Street lights flitted past. Ahead of him, silhouetted against the windshield, was the head and shoulders of the driver, distinct enough for Morgan to know that a woman was at the wheel. The American stirred and shifted himself to a more comfortable position. A hand reached from the other side of the tonneau to tap a pistol muzzle against his side.

"Remain at ease, senior," warned Esteaban Velasquez. Morgan craned his neck to peer at the shadowy figure of the gaucha. "You are making a grave mistake, Senior Velasquez," he said earnestly. "Will you not consider the possibility that I did not kill your uncle? If you will return to the Casa Grande, my innocence can be proved in a few minutes."

Velasquez's shoulders moved in the semi-darkness. "I have Rosita's word for your guilt, senior. Less than an hour ago she came to the cafe on the Avenida de Mayo where we are entertainers and dragged me to the Casa Grande to seize you." He indicated his cowboy attire. "She did not give me time to remove my dancing costume."

THE girl, Morgan recalled, had been present in Col. Velasquez's room when De Nova and Guernio had accused Morgan of the soldier's death. She must have slipped out of the hotel while Morgan was being fingerprinted to enlist the aid of her brother.

Morgan leaned forward so the girl could hear him above the purring of the motor. "Seniorita Velasquez, you left the Casa Grande too soon. Had you remained you would have learned that no maps or papers were in my room; were you there now you would also discover that the fingerprints on the glass are not mine."

"The maps were in your room," the girl answered without turning her head. "I found them and the wallet of Uncle Miguel in your writing desk before I hurried to the Cafe Blanco for Esteaban. I have them with me now."

first thing you tell us is a lie, we cannot believe anything further you say."

The car rumbled over a bridge that spanned a dark-watered stream. They were now in a district of warehouses, wharves, dingy buildings and unpaved streets.

The car stopped. Velasquez waited until Rosita had stepped out and opened the door of the tonneau, then gestured with the automatic. "You will follow my sister, senior. Do not let the darkness tempt you into running away. My eyesight and my marksmanship are both excellent."

THE automobile had been halted in a tortuous alley, black and somewhat odorous. A wooden gate creaked and Rosita was swallowed by the thicker gloom of a dilapidated porch. Esteaban crowded close behind Morgan as the American stumbled up the steps to where the girl was knocking on the door of the ramshackle house.

Twice Rosita knocked, and then a muffled voice responded from within the building. "It is Rosita and Esteaban, To Pancho." The girl called softly. "Will you let us in, old friend?"

Came the rattle of a chain and the door was pulled open. A figure so bent as to appear almost grotesque shuffled into the doorway. "Rosita!" croaked a deep, husky voice. "For the love of God, let me see your little ones once more!"

The bent man turned into the house. A match flared, revealing his shaggy hair and thick-lidded eyes. A grizzled jaw, had discovered the stranger.

Esteaban moved his pistol. "Not exactly, To. This man has just killed Uncle Miguel."

"The good colonel?" To Pancho's bent shoulders straightened. "For Dios, you have brought him to the right place for vengeance." His hand moved from jaw to amputated and the lamplight gleamed on the blade of a knife. "I shall be pleased to cut his throat for you, my little ones."

"No, no, Pancho!" Rosita interposed swiftly. "We are not ready for this yet. We want to hide him where the police cannot find him."

Morgan's lips twisted in a bitter smile. "Thank you, seniorita, for this, but I am not a criminal."

"But—" stammered To Pancho, his mouth agape. "I do not comprehend. If this man has murdered Col. Velasquez, why do you not turn him over to the police?"

"Because," said Rosita, "to do so would bring disgrace and shame to the name of Velasquez. This man is a Yankee spy and to make him pay officially for his crime would be to disclose that Uncle Miguel betrayed his country for American gold. That is not true, I know, but that is how things will look unless we take steps to prevent it."

MORGAN stared blankly at the girl. "I am afraid I do not understand you, seniorita."

"I heard Captain Rojas address you as Lieutenant Morgan. I heard Senior Guillermo charge that you had killed Uncle Miguel to obtain Argentina's military secrets. I reached your room before Captain Rojas could get there and found—these."

Her hand came out of a pocket of her blouse, holding a sheaf of folded papers. "Plans of the defenses of our country," she continued, tossing the documents upon the table. "You stole them from Uncle Miguel after you killed him, did you not? He did not sell them to you?"

"The answer is no, seniorita, to your three charges of theft, murder and bribery. The only time I ever talked to Colonel Velasquez was in the hotel lobby and you heard every word that passed between us."

"Then why did he have those papers on him at the Casa Grande? That is what will ruin his reputation. The world will believe he had some traffic with you, otherwise he would not have gathered all this information for you to buy or steal from him."

gan's charge that she had twice been swayed by circumstantial evidence. Morgan was permitted to take a chair. "This story begins in the Caribbean, where German U-boats are doing their best to wipe out both North and South American shipping."

Grouped about the table, Rosita, Esteaban and To Pancho listened as Morgan related how an American destroyer had captured a crippled submarine and had found in the officers' quarters a copy of a Buenos Aires newspaper.

"You know how newspapers are delivered in bundles to regular customers—with the name written on the outside paper. On the newspaper found in the submarine was pasted a label reading 'Casa Grande.' That informed us that the sub commander had obtained the paper at the hotel."

"The date of the paper told us that the sub commander had raced all the way from the Rio de la Plata to the Caribbean to be there when the destroyer surprised it as it was about to sink a freighter."

"Somewhere in South America there is a web of Nazi espionage that enables the Axis submarines to play havoc with the trade of this hemisphere. If that U-boat commander had been visiting someone at the Casa Grande, it was possible that the hotel was a strand, if not the centre, of that web. So I, because I could speak Spanish fluently, was given a leave of absence from the U.S. Navy and sent down here to investigate."

Have Been Great Help

Salvage Shows For Children On

Prairies Bring Good Results

School children of the Prairie Provinces have been bringing in the scrap.

In Brandon, Manitoba, where a successful fat show had already been held, the Patriotic Salvage Corps of that city, asked the local theatres to present a second salvage show, this time for clean rags.

The minimum price for admission to the show was five pounds of rags. The result was an accumulation of nearly 6,000 pounds.

Youngsters in Saskatoon: Saskatchewan, brought in 3,000 pounds of dripping to a local theatre when the children's Fats Salvage Show was presented.

Calgary, Alta. also held Fats Salvage shows for the children. The result of their initial experiment was 7,500 pounds of fats. The Calgary Fats officials estimated that this quantity of fat will make 750 pounds of glycerine, which in turn, will make 5,850 pounds of high explosive, which will fire 48,600 rounds of machine gun ammunition.

Report Is Not True

No Time Limit For Canadian Soldiers

In Service Overseas

Reports have been circulating for some time to the effect that Canadian soldiers serving overseas are permitted to return to Canada on leave after serving overseas for periods exceeding two years.

National defence headquarters at Ottawa announces that an over-growing number of inquiries are being received from wives, relatives, and friends in this regard, and states that no credence whatsoever should be attached to such reports. No arrangement of this nature exists, and none is contemplated at the present time.

Only a relatively small number of men return from overseas each year. Of these, some are returned on instructional duty, some on escort duty, others for discharge owing to medical reasons, and a very small number for compassionate leave.

Directing Tunisian Campaign

General Sir Harold Alexander, commander of the Allied ground forces in the Battle of Tunisia, is shown, (center), in flying jacket, watching a phase of the battle in the last big drive that culminated in the capture of Tunis and Bizerte and the complete collapse of Axis forces.

General Dwight Eisenhower, commander in chief of the Allied forces, paid a glowing tribute to the genius of Alexander for his handling of the battle.

Tested Block Busters

British Scientists Have Completed

Interesting Experiment With Bombs

A group of British scientists has completed one of the noisiest experiments of the war to answer the question, "Which is the more effective—one 8,000 pound bomb or two 4,000 pounds?"

They exploded ten 100-pound bombs on different types of surface and measured the blast. Then they got some 1,000-pounds and compared the blast effect with the smaller bombs.

The effect of the 100-pounds, they found, depended too much on the ground or material on which they fell. The 1,000-pounds were far more reliable.

They wanted to make further experiments with 4,000-pounds and 8,000-pounds but they could not find a big enough area of waste land on which to explode them. They infer, however, that an 8,000-pounder does not have twice the blast effect of two 4,000-pounds. But it is far more concentrated and 100 per cent reliable in a limited area—the Krupp works at Essen, for instance.

On the other side, though 8,000-pound bombs may miss the target entirely, if you drop two 4,000-pounds you are twice as likely to hit the objective.

YOU TOO CAN BE A PUBLIC

SPEAKER

Waiting For A Speaker

How you wish when you see long crowds waiting lined up to hear a speaker that you were the one they are waiting anxiously to hear. Many are ambitious to be good speakers but are too timid to try.

Some women even tremble at the thought of standing up in front of a group of friends at a club meeting. Such lack of self-confidence is totally unnecessary. Even you can command the attention and respect of others by your poised speaking manner.

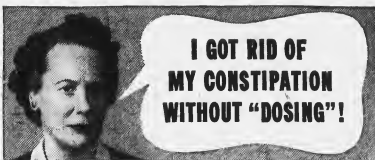

How many of us have longed to speak out during some meeting but were afraid of our own voices; afraid to feel our knees quake and our hearts race.

Why not be able to say what you want to say on your feet? Countless occasions demand men and women who can speak clearly; for example, in committee meetings at public forums, church fairs, clubs, dances, dinners, parties, and when offering coats.

Our 32-page booklet tells you how to make a friend of your voice, tells you how to let your audience like you and even how to prepare your speech and deliver it as well as other helpful suggestions.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Public Speaking Self-Taught" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg News Paper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Make Things Attractive

Women In Britain Have Gardens At

Their Searchlight Stations

I would not dare so much as to hint that women can be better soldiers than men; but they are beyond question tidier in some regards. Sir James Grigg said their greatest triumph was seen in their taking over of searchlight stations. A good many of these are set in lonely and muddy fields; but since the women were installed these patchwork deserts have begun to blossom like the rose. The paths grow neat and tidy; and besides the potatoe grower, where vegetables are being grown successfully, small cottage-like flower gardens embrace the army huts—London Spectator.

Meat Rationing Rules

Some Points Which Will Be Of Interest To Farmers

"Canadian farmers are largely on the 'honor-system' so far as meat rationing goes," said Mr. F. S. Grisdale, Deputy Foods Administrator, in a Farm Forum broadcast the other day. Mr. Grisdale, himself an Alberta farmer, continued: "We are asking farmers voluntarily to reduce their meat consumption by at least one-fifth. That is about the average reduction which will be imposed on those who have to buy all their meat by coupons at the store."

Other points of interest to the farmer were brought out during this broadcast.

If a farm family buys all its meat at the store, ration coupons will have to be used in the ordinary way. Farmers who kill livestock for their own use must register with their local ration board. They may do this by mail.

At the end of each month they must send in to the local ration board one coupon for each two pounds of meat killed and consumed at home. Two pounds of meat bought at the store would cost two coupons.

Their other coupons may be used to buy meat at the store, in order to provide variety.

If a farmer sells part of the meat he kills to another farmer he must collect coupons to cover half the amount of meat he sells; for example, he sells 10 pounds of meat to another farmer he will collect five valid coupons which he will forward with his own coupons to the local ration board at the end of the month.

Stamped, addressed envelopes may be obtained from the ration board for this purpose.
